UK Outlook for Saturday 21 Aug 2021 to Monday 30 Aug 2021:
Remaining unsettled through the weekend with showers and longer spells of rain at times, but also with some drier conditions with sunshine too. Feeling humid and rather warm. Through the new week it is likely to become drier and less humid from the north with sunny spells. Thereafter there is a signal for settled conditions to become more dominant across most areas with largely dry weather. However there still remains the possibility of showers in places, with perhaps some longer spells of rain in the north or northwest. Temperatures are expected to be around average, although there is an increasing possibility that some very warm spells may develop later in the period. This may also bring the chance of thundery showers, especially in the south.
